ORG 1 US LABOR PARTY
P- IRVINE, MAURICE

Information from an article in the February fifteenth issue of the London based Financial Times strongly indicates that there is currently a major mobilization of FBI and CIA counterinsurgent specialists on the West coast. We have established that these extra specialists will act as professional provocateurs of violent racial and red scare incidents using the hysteria already created by the Symbionese Liberation Army, a CIA-programmed assassination squad of brainwashed victims. The article also suggests that Bay area law enforcement officials under FBI-CIA and LEAA supervision may allow SLA members to escape after they have killed their kidnap victim, Patricia Hearst, in order that they may continue terrorist operations in other American cities.

PORTRAIT OF A FRINGE GROUP..... The article, Portrait of a Fringe Group, by the Financial Times' Los Angeles correspondent, Maurice Irvine, states that: "FBI kidnap case experts are flying to California to investigate the Hearst kidnaping. It is already public knowledge that the head of the investigation, San Francisco FBI official, Charles Bates, has openly refused to investigate charges by Attorney General Saxbe that the Bureau possesses enough information to rescue Ms. Hearst. Also known is the fact that FBI Chief Clarence Kelly has already written off the case by remarking that: "It doesn't look good for Ms. Hearst." It is thus clear that the experts being flown in are not arriving for the purpose of saving Hearst."

Mr. Irvine also states: "CIA agents note the way it (the SLA) aids the Uruguayan Tupamaros and the Argentine Peoples' Revolutionary Army." Perhaps unfamiliar with United States law, Irvine has let slip that the investigations include CIA operatives familiar with guerilla warfare who are illegally operating within the borders of the U.S. The National Caucus of Labor Committees has already documented how the activities of the SLA are only a part of a coordinated plan to create a riot situation in the Bay area to justify LEAA-CIA military intervention into the governments of the region and to accelerate the development of hysteria and police state measures throughout the United States. The NCLC has also documented that the activities of the SLA which have included both murder and kidnaping, were programmed into the members of the SLA through brainwashing at the Macaville medical facility a "special" prison in California. This programming was carried out at the request of the CIA and the LEAA and performed with the cooperation of numerous California prison and law enforcement officials. The special assignment of any FBI, CIA or LEAA agent or law enforcement official to the Hearst case is being used as a cover to send operatives trained in guerilla warfare to the Bay area in order to professionally direct and advance the the wave of terrorism already begun by the brainwashed SLA members.

PLANNED CIA DELUGE..... Irvine's article includes a disturbing quote from one of these specialists claiming that: "If they get their way and escape scot free, for the time being then we can expect a deluge." Irvine follows this with a quote for Attorney General Saxbe claiming that there are indications that the group "may surface in Washington or elsewhere." Saxbe has strongly implied that he knows all essentials of the case sufficient to rescue Patricia Hearst but that under pressure from the forces of the Rockefeller cabal, he is right now "not at liberty" to release them. These two statements suggest that the SLA members will be allowed to escape and continue the bloody attacks in other American cities. The NCLC estimates that SLA-style teams of brainwashed ex-convicts and veterans exist in at least Philadelphia, New York City, Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo.

DEMAND INVESTIGATION..... Saxbe and other officials who have relevant information on the CIA's takeover of law enforcement in the U.S. must immediately release it and must immediately call for an investigation of the operations of the FBI, CIA and LEAA. Failure to begin such a public, large scale investigation may doom Ms. Hearst as well as others who may fall victim to the terrorist attacks the Rockefeller cabal plans to use to seize power.

SAVE MR. HEARST'S LIFE!!

NEW YORK- FEB. 16---The National Caucus of Labor Committees has now confirmed that the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) kidnaping of Patricia Hearst is a front for the CIA. Since it is to the political advantage of the CIA and its masters to have Patricia Hearst killed following a buildup of national hope for her rescue, her murder is probable unless an immediate expose of CIA responsibility occurs. On the basis of information collected from several kinds of sources including police officers, we have been forewarned of a LEAA-CIA plan to organize ghetto riots and other killings leading up to a crescendo during early March of this year.

From its first appearance into prominence in press coverage during recent weeks, we have been carefully investigating the so called Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) as one of the CIA-LEAA created incidents for their campaign of terror. This initiation was taken on grounds of ideological and modus operandi features of this plot. The further information received during the past forty-eight hours confirms our initial suspicions. There is no doubt that the SLA is a CIA-LEAA front.

The principal evidence for this falls into two categories. Firstly, reports tracing members of the SLA to programmed behavioral modification units within prisons and similar institutions; secondly, the SLA's use of the "Kawaida" symbol and ideology.

VACAVILLE...The two identified SLA leaders Donald David DeFreeze and Theo M. Wheeler both "escaped" from prison last year. Both were inmates at California's Vacaville State prison, site of notorious behavioral modification programs sponsored by the CIA-LEAA (LAW ENFORCEMENT ASSISTANCE ADMINISTRATION) operation. Vacaville inmates are subjected to electric shock of the genitals, drugs which simulate drowning, and other elaborate tortures which make up the "aversive conditioning" routines. This morning's New York Times reports that the SLA was born in special "sessions" and classes of an official Vacaville prison program where political training was given.

KAWAIDA...Kawaida is not merely a symbol. Kawaida is a concept developed by Dr. John Rees, of the Rockefeller funded Tavistock institute OSS and CIA. Kawaida represents a set of indoctrinational precepts which, in brainwashing technology, would be identified as a "belief structure" to be imposed upon the brainwashed victim. The Kawaida system is identified with at least two other known CIA operations; Ron Karenga whose "US" operatives murdered Black Panthers on the UCLA campus; and Leroy Jones, whom John Rees personally recycled into the CIA's Imamu Baraka in 1968.

SAVING HER LIFE...US Attorney General Saxbe has apparently smelled a rat in the entire SLA affair. At a news conference on February 14, he suggested that police agencies, knowing the identities and whereabouts of the kidnapers, are derelict in their duty in not attempting to effect Ms. Hearst's rescue and to bring the zombies to justice.

Publisher Hearst, as the aggrieved parent, made the understandable mistake of opposing Saxbe's public statement, obviously (on the basis of false hopes that one can negotiate successfully with CIA-controlled zombies).

The only way in which we can reasonably expect that the SLA would be prevented from killing Patricia Hearst is to put pressure and responsibility on the group's masters in the CIA and LEAA. A full press exposure of these and related facts should be made immediately and full cooperation should be given the US Attorney General's office in proceeding to safely extricate the victim from the zombies who are holding her captive.

We will make any further information which we are able to obtain available to the Attorney General's office.

Full details of the Hearst kidnaping case along with complete news of the imminent fascist takeover of Britain will be available in the next issue of New Solidarity, the NCLC's twice weekly newspaper.

Philadelphia - Feb. 12-

Last week Sister Fatah of the House of Umoja held a press conference to protest the revolutionary organizing of the US Labor Party and the Revolutionary Youth Movement because it "threatened" her efforts to destroy the minds of gang youth in the West Philadelphia area.

Two days later, Herman Wrice and Andrew Jenkins, so-called community leaders in Mantua, bribed a youth gang to physically prevent a US Labor Party campaign meeting from taking place at the Haverford Community Center. The subject of the meeting was the exposure of Wrice and Jenkins and their bosses at the University of Pennsylvania Wharton School, for their role in the political pacification of the worst poverty pocket in the city - Mantua.

US Labor Party candidates John Brown, running for the State House of Representatives, District 188, Juanita Blance, running for State House of Representatives, District 194, and Joseph Parsons, running for US Congress, District 2, released the following statement and fact sheet on Mantua to the press:

"Project Mantua, the pacification program conceived by the brainwashing experts at the University of Pennsylvania, is the capitalist showcase for fascism.

In the past weeks, Nelson Rockefeller and his bloody cronies in the Oil Trust have declared war on the US working population. They have destroyed the economy and stopped the flow of food and gas supplies. Their goal is to create Mantuas everywhere - that is, populations of beaten down slaves and brainwashed youth who will peacefully work themselves to death.

In preparation for the "controlled fascism", Rockefeller and his fists, the Central Intelligence Agency and its domestic gestate the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, are using the "independent" truckers strike and racial tension and violence in ghettos throughout the country to create the panic and confusion which will justify a military insurrection.

It is the exposure of this story and the way that ghetto riots will be carried out, that Wrice and Fatah are so afraid of. These "community leaders" who work hand in hand with pioneers in death at the Wharton Management and Behavioral Science Institute, are the killers of the Philadelphia ghetto population.

Penn Eric Trist, Russell Ackoff, and Marvin Rees are brainwashing ghetto youth and are therefore subject to criminal trial under the Nurem-

We, the working class candidates of the US Labor Party, represent a growing movement which will drive these Nazi henchmen out of the ghettos and drive the Nazi doctors out of the universities.

Workers should take note. The CIA's pacification programs are not limited to the ghettos. Eric Trist at Penn is the same man who praised Leonard Woodcock, head of the UAW, for opening up the labor movement to co-participation and behavior modification i.e. brain-washing. Leonard Woodcock's program for the working man is Project Mantua - slave labor. The US Labor Party is organizing a movement which will impeach Leonard Woodcock from the UAW and drive him out of the labor movement.

The US Labor Party will replace the Nazi leadership in the ghettos and the trade unions with working class leadership which is prepared to fight the depression by taking over the economy and implementing a program of expanded production of schools, housing, food, and mass transit.

FACT SHEET: PROJECT MANTUA

Gang wars and race riots planned for the spring have been in preparation for some time. Since at least 1965 the government counter-insurgency apparatus has been building a network of agents in ghettos throughout the U.S. under the auspices of Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) fronts like the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). Leading counterinsurgency agents have returned from Viet Nam to establish pacification programs at home. Mantua has been one of their target areas.

McGeorge Bundy, architect of the strategic hamlets in Viet Nam and CIA liaison in the Kennedy Administration, took over the Ford Foundation in the mid '60's and gave Herman Wrice the pacification franchise for Mantua. Prior to this, Mantua had been a hot spot - one of the worst poverty pockets in the city, with high unemployment, dilapidated housing, etc. Local chieftain Wrice began to move when the state started releasing brainwashed prisoners into his custody on a do what you're told or back to jail basis. These ex-prisoners were used by Wrice to roll on the gangs, buying off one or two with Young Great Society (YGS) jackets and tennis shoes, then making treaties to bring others under the YGS umbrella. Any gang refusing to be "incorporated" into the YGS super-gang was summarily attacked and destroyed by Wrice and his thugs.

The Mantua Project

In 1967 the supervision of this pacification program passed to social scientists at the nearby University of Pennsylvania (U of Pa.). With $100,000's from the Amheuser-Busch Co., Marvin Rees of the Wharton School set up the Mantua Project. As part of the Project the Mantua Industrial Development Corp. (MIDC) was built to fulfill the dreams of the local pimps and hustlers (what Penn social scientists call the "black entrepreneurial class") and to function as an apparatus for slave labor in the community. After five years, MIDC has succeeded in establishing an industrial and commercial center at 56th & Lancaster. In the next year Wharton will help community "leaders" like Wrice, or Andy Jenkins, consolidate their rule in Mantua by a $1,800,000 grant from HUD for housing units, built by the graduates of scab training programs.

The Mantua Project was severely disrupted during the 1970 Penn Sit-In in which radical students and ghetto residents joined together to oppose U of Pa.'s annexation of the Mantua-W. Phila. ghetto. The Penn plan called for large-scale destruction of housing, creation of empty parking lots, and was a massive real estate boondoggle by area bankers and slumlords. Class-wide organizing led by the Phila. Labor Committee (PLC) and members of the Black Panther Party suffered a momentary set-back when Wrice sold out the Sit-In and George Fencle of the Red Squad framed PLC leaders in a bomb-plot conspiracy.

In the same year Eric Trist was brought to the U of Pa. to head up Wharton's Management and Behavior Science Institute. Trist had been the right-hand man of CIA founder John Rees until Rees' death in April, 1969. Together they worked in British Army Intelligence, founded the infamous Tavistock Institute in Great Britain, and orchestrated the CIA's co-participation, anti-union plot in industry over the past twenty-five years. Trist, Russell Ackoff, also of Wharton and the man responsible for bringing Trist to Penn, Marvin Wolfgang of the Sociology-Criminology Department, Dr. Walter Cuskey from Community Mental Health, Dr. Kissick from the Department of Community Medicine, and Wrice collaborated on the Mantua Project to set up the Urban Leadership Training Program for gang members in 1972.

They selected twenty-one gang members, brought them to the campus and what Marvin Rees described as "exposure to experiences they had never had before." Through group sessions with psychiatrists and classes. Project Mantua administrators learned how to control gang youth and ready them for slave labor and self-policing. Rees said to a New Solidarity reporter, "We learned a great deal by taking youth out of their natural environments. We saw respected gang leaders fall to pieces when we put them on the spot before the other gang members" - in sum, an experiment on how to undermine an independent organizational structure.

The Urban Leadership Training Program also included group sessions with police, rides in patrol cars, and a trip to the Roundhouse where police showed them computerized dossiers on gang members - including their own - and told them that police not only knew what they had done yesterday, but what they would do tomorrow. The program ended with a party and a paid week long vacation in Puerto Rico, courtesy of Amheuser-Busch. The youth's tour included a visit to a model open-walled prison where inmates voluntarily incarcerate themselves so as to avoid being sent to the worst prisons on the Island.

Nowadays Herman Wrice rarely frequents the streets of Mantua, but he can be found in his office three doors down from Eric Trist on the fourth floor of the Vance Building, 37th & Spruce. If he's not in, he may be located at his office in the State Building. Rees, too, has retired from the youth angle of Project Mantua and has brought in Tom Gilmore, who according to his own boss, has extensive ties with the CIA's IEAA. Gilmore, in turn, has added several other gang "experts" to Wharton's staff.

The street successor for running the CIA's gang program is Palaka Fattah and her House of Umoja. In addition to receiving $10,000's from the Criminal Justice system, "Sister" Palaka has net repeatedly with Rees and others from Wharton's Management and Behavior Science Institute to get her marching orders. Rees modestly projects that in the next six months Palaka will be able to buy up the entire block on which the House of Umoja is presently located. The funds for this will come from the government and the police who pay the Black Madonna $10,000 a head for each ghetto youth sentenced to the House of Umoja in lieu of being placed in more conventional "correctional" institutions. Youth who are reluctant to cooperate are packed off to jail.

Last week, "Sister" Fattah announced in the Philadelphia Tribune that her "noble" efforts towards gang control were being thwarted by the revolutionary organizing of the Labor Committee and its co-organizers in the National Unemployed and Welfare Rights Organization (NUMRO) and the Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM). Shortly thereafter Wrice and Jenkins appeared at a Labor Committee meeting in Mantua with a gang in tow to "protect" Mantua's residents from a working class alternative. /Blips Wrice and Jenkins had induced the Diplomats to sell themselves and the community for a night in return for having their club house painted. Promoting such superfly hustling is called character building by Wrice. Other character building projects include letting select gangs "steal" arms from an unmarked trained parked conveniently in the middle of the Bottom. Drug distribution centers and well-known arms caches, such as the one at 422 N. 32 Street, are also tolerated by local community "leaders." They are all part of the CIA/IEAA community control, self-policing plan. "Pacified" Mantua residents are kept in a semi-doped state through the behavior modification "therapy" of Penn's community mental health centers and YGS' halfway house, while gang members are kept armed and fighting to terrorize the community. The alternatives for Mantua are clear: pacification or organizing a working class movement to throw the CIA/IEAA out of the ghetto.
